2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)Cited documents:

D1: SE 508152 C2
D2: US US3930581 A
D3: EP 604880 A2
D4: EP 0783162 A1

Document D1 discloses an apparatus and process for conducting deposit and drawing operations of banknotes valuables. The claimed invention differs from the cited document D1 in that a feeding means, provided for controllably feeding in a banknote or other document into or controllably feeding out a banknote or other document from a pocket, is provided at a feeding station and not within each magazine pocket. Therefore, document D1 is only a background art document.

Document D2 discloses a sheet feeding mechanism comprising a buffer store consisting essentially of a rotatable drum having radially extending pockets which successively receives one banknote. The claimed invention differs from the cited document D2 in that a selectable magazine pocket can be placed in front of a feeding station. Therefore, document D2 is only a background art document.

Documents D3 and D4 cited in the International Search Report also represent prior art. The claimed invention is not considered to be anticipated by these documents.

None of the cited documents, taken alone or in combination, reveals the invention defined in claims 1-8. Furthermore, in the cited documents there are no suggestions leading a person skilled in the art towards the invention defined by claims 1-8. Consequently the invention is novel and is considered to
